TRIUMPH OF PALMERSTON .- As we anticipated, the English elections have resulted in the decisive victory of the Government over the Opposition. The vote of censure of the House of Commons is thus condemned by the people, the Chinese policy of the Ministry is approved, and continued public confidence in the ability and patriotism of her Majesty's government is expressed in the highest and most emphatic constitutional form. The triumph of Palmerston is complete. If, as the advices by the Ericsson affirm, beside the return of a large majority of his Lordship's supporters, Cobden, the leader of the Opposition, and Bright and Gibson and Layard, his lieutenants, are defeated, the triumph is, indeed, what the advices call it, "overwhelming." It is clearly decided enough at any rate for all personal and political purposes.

Believing that this result, involving as it does the prosecution of vigorous and effective measures in China, is highly favorable to the interests not only of England and of this country but of the whole world, we take especial gratification in it. Lord Palmerston has some conspicuous and grievous faults as a statesman, but he unquestionably posses great sagacity and nerve, and is at present exerting them both in the cause of universal commerce and enlightenment. His overthrow at this juncture would have been an international calam-

LAST SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL CONVENTION. Several Southern papers tried to take us somewhat following reply: sharply to task for not speaking quite so highly of the Southern Commercial Convention at Savannah My Dear Madam:

I have received your favor of the 5th inst., with the as they thought we should. That very ultra Southern gentleman, Mr. Pryor, editor of the South, appears to think quite as little of the convention as we did. Speaking of Mr. A. Dudley Mann's project of direct steam communication between Chesapeake Bay and Milford Haven, he says it was received at the South with the liveliest indications of approval and delight, and adds:

Shortly afterwards the Commercial Convention met at Savannah. This subject formed the engrossing theme of its deliberations, gave occasion for much display of grandiquent oratory, was embodied in a series of imposing resolutions, and finally interred with becoming rites in the unreadable archives of that magnificent shortion. The august assemblage dispersed with every mark of self-satisfaction at the results of their labors; having furnished the philosophic historian with another memorable example of the truth of the maxim, Quam parva sapientia regitur mundus.

If ever another Southern Commercial Convention shall be held, we trust it will be held under very different auspices.

WILLFUL MISREPRESENTATION .- The London correspondent of the New York Tribune, a gentleman of character and fine intelligence, makes the following positive statement or misstatement in relation to the Parliamentary canvass:

Palmerston's election address, which appeared in to-day's papers, will do much harm to the Liberals who attached themselves to him. He does not offer the slightest concession to public opinion, and while Disrael's watchword "Peace, Retrenchment, and Social Improvement," the noble Lord speaks about China and foreign politics, but remains dumb as to reforms.

Now the address of Palmerston to which the Tribune's correspondent refers thus pointedly defines his Lordship's policy:

Abroad, it will be our earnest endeavor to procure peace, but peace with honor and with safety, peace with the maintenance of national rights, peace with security to our fellow countrymen in foreign lands. At home our guiding principles will be judicious and well regulated economy, progressive improvement in all that concerns the welfare of the nation, the continued diffusion of education among the people, and such well-considered reforms as from time to time may be required by changes of circumstances and by the increasing growth of intelligence.

It is astonishing how the best of this world is given to lying.

How to GET AT IT .- By the new postage treaty with France, letters can be sent by any of the stea mers pre-paid or not, at the rate of fifteen cents per quarter ounce. As the letter scale in general use has no mark less than the half ounce, by placing an American quarter in the scale with a letter, it will at once indicate whether it exceeds a quarter of an ounce. as the quarter weighs that according to the postoffice

These are evidently the utterances not only of an exquisite genius but of a heart that has felt deeply:

[For the Louisville Bulletin,] SUDDEN BEREAVEMENT.

BY ANNA MARIA WELBY. I'm standing by thy side, belov'd, I hold thee to the heart Whose pulse beside thine own hath moved Till each of each seemed part. I call—thou heedest not the while, I smile—ah! woe is me, When was it that my voice, my smile Unheeded were by thee!

They've strewn upon thy matron breast The rosemary and rue Since there hath been my latest rest, What anguished throbs it drew! And closed the placid lids above The smiling eyes' soft play, That never looked on me but love, Through all our wedded day.

Have ye no words of welcome-Oh, loving lips, or smile!

Speak, speak, though thou shouldst chide, my own.

'Twould be a joy the while.

Have ye no words, of all of yore,

That thrill'd me with such bliss? Oh, when did living ears before

You moon hath scarcely grown less bright-Alas! how can she shine! That saw me fold all, ere my flight, Earth dearest held of mine; That with me looked the last upon The face I thought me, sweet, The fairest e'er her light shone on?
And is it thus we meet?

Such answer meet as this?

Go, hither bring the first fair child Whose tiny hand's soft stroke, The mother, for the face that smiled Upon her bosom, woke,
And place it where its touch may thrill
That bosom's frozen spot—
Oh, heart and pulse of mine, be still—
Her babe—she heeds him not!

How can I hear him breathe the name, The first—his father's own, She taught his infant lips to frame, As love could teach alone?

And think how much of love the true, The passionate, the fond, Ere yet its living worth he knew, Had flown his reach beyond!

Oh, had I been but by thy side When death unsummoned came,
Those tears that shame my manhood's pride
Had not been wept the same;
But I was from thee—where I stand Another watched thy throes. And closed the eyes, the stranger's hand, That mine alone should close!

Oh, fairy feet, that, to the ground, Fell as the snow flakes fall! How can I hear a light foot's sound And not thine own recall; Or, how another's hand e'er press, Forgetful of thine own, Into whose every sweet caress So much of heart was thrown?

I'll wrap me with thy memory round, No other love again Shall fill the bosom's depths profound On which thy head hath fain; Nor even woman's smile below My household light shall make No, henceforth cherished be the woe I'll bear me for thy sake!

What recks it, since thou'st left my side, What fate mine own may be? All, all within this heart hath died, Of hope and love, with thee!
Oh, where they'll hide thee from my sight,
My more than life that made, With all my weight of woe, this night, Would God that I were laid!

Mrs. Phebe Webber.

If the correspondence between the parties has been continued since, we hope that the world may be favored with the whole. Something very interesting may come of it. The fact that a fine old widow has sent the President a pair of mittens is no manner of evidence, that, when he shall present himself in due form, she will "give him the mitten."

OUR MINISTER TO CHINA .- It is understood at Washington that Mr. Reed, the new Minister to concern was precisely the reason why he selected it China, with all convenient expedition, will proceed for his purposes. He expected to find it a sort of in a government steamer to Southampton, thence to Liberty Hall. London and a conference with Lord Palmerston: thence to Paris and a conference with Louis Napoleon: thence across the Mediterranean in a British passenger steamer to Alexandria, in Egypt; thence to Suez, the Red Sea; down which he will proceed in a British steamer to Aden. At this point he will be picked up by our Government steamer, which, in the interval, from Southampton, will have passed the revenue standard duties shall be imposed for the round to Aden via the Cape of Good Hope. This was a feature of Mr. Walker's programme of 1853.

There is, as the Baltimore American says, ore open, undisguised rascality in the following advertisement, cut from the New York Herald, than is often found in the same space:

Merchants embarrassed, in want of means, or merchants embarrassed, in want of means, or willing to suspend with means, by financiering, can hear of a party who has just carried parties through to the amount of $80,000 without prejudice. Address 105 Herald office. Reference given.

"Willing to suspend with means by financiering!" What a gentle phrase for cheating creditors and pocketing the money of others. Such sort of "fiishable as felony.

[Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] NEW ORLEANS, April 9, 1857.

On Sunday afternoon last, the 5th inst., we had very sudden and most unpleasant change of weather. For a while the wind blew almost a hurricane; during the night it veered round to the northwest and became quite cold, and on Tuesday morning a white frost was visible beyond the limits of the city. From various quarters we hear of supposed damage to the sugar cane and cotton. In the middle and northern parts of the State there must have been a freeze sufficient to kill all the cotton above the ground and to cut down the corn. As the weather was quite warm and seemed settled in the early part of the season, the planters pushed forward their work, and the damage now done must be considerable, though not irreparable, for it is not yet too late to replant. At present it is cold and rainy and just such weather as one might expect in January. Business is falling off rapidly, in fact, comparative dullness appears in several departments of trade, and not a few business agents are taking their departure. The subject now claiming the most general attention in our commercial circles is the Southern Pacific Railroad. The company was chartered by the State of Texas in 1852, under the name of the Texas Western Railroad Company, with the right to build a road from the borders of Louisiana, running west, to El Paso, a distance of some eight hundred miles, and to receive from the State a donation of five thousand one hundred and twenty acres of land for every mile of railway it should build. And by subsequent and recent acts the donation of land was doubled, the name of the company was changed, and a loan to it of $6,000 for ten years, bearing 6 per cent. interest, for every mile of railway it should build, was authorized. The company has been reorganized, and the principal parties now interested in it are among the most energetic, intelligent, wealthy, and honorable men in the country. Its office has been permanently located in this city, and all or very nearly all of the stock considered necessary for the successful prosecution of the work through Texas has been taken. A grander or more important railroad enterprise has never been contemplated, and those who have embarked in it and remain holders of any considerable portion of stock till it is finished must become immensely rich. The road has been commenced and is now being prosecuted with energy, and there is no obstacle to its completion as early as the grading and the transportation and laying of the rails will permit. It is a heavy work, but should it be properly managed, as in all human probability it will, for every dollar invested in it at least seven dollars must be returned to the shareholder, and the company will have the road with all its running stock for nothing, free from debt, and worth not less than ten times the amount of the original subscription.

There arrived in New York city a few days since a resident of Illinois one hundred and ten years of age, who had walked the entire distance from his home in that State. The greatest day's travel upon this tedious journey was twelve miles. The old gentleman came to visit the east end of Long Island, in search of his services in the revolutionary struggle by which to establish his claim to a pension. The reason of his walking was that he would not incur the risk of shortening his mortal career by riding on railroads. So strong was his prejudice against this mode of conveyance, that while in the upper part of New York city and desiring to go down to the Brooklyn ferries, on his way to his destination on Long Island, he could not be induced to ride in the Second Avenue horse-power railroad cars, but walked down, crossed the ferry, and pressed on to the end of his

The editor of the New York Mirror has manifested considerable interest in behalf of a widow, whose deceased husband left her $15,000 a year during her widowhood. The widow wants to marry, but cannot do so without losing her income. The editor of the Mirror warmly espouses the cause of widows who are thus imposed upon by tyrannical husbands and says: "While the Abolition press is preaching freedom to niggers, the Mirror means to be not less zealous in the more humane and congenial cause-THE EMANCIPATION OF WIDOWS." heartily commend this resolution. The Mirror will be much better and more profitably employed in advocating the rights of oppressed widows than in endeavoring to stir up sectional strife on the nigger

The Boston Courier, a friend of the Rev. Mr. Kalloch, says of the Lechmere House, at which he stopped with Mrs. Steen:

If the Lechmere House, together with a liberal percentage of the government witnesses, could be put into a bag and dropped into the middle of the sea—or into a horsepond, if one deep enough could be found—we think the land would be sweeter and cleaner for the lustration.

This account of the character of the Lechmere House may be and probably is entirely true, and we have no doubt that Mr. Kalloch's knowledge of the Thus, some ten or twelve years after ourselves, the Americanshave taken one step in the direction of Free Trade. The board of trustees will meet on Thursday, at twelve o'clock M.

The Consecration of St. Andrew's Church, on last Wednesday, was an occasion of much interest to Episcopalians, and we doubt not, from the known Evangelical character of the congregation which worships there, to many Christians of every name. At the appointed hour, a large congregation having assembled in the church, the bishop and a number of the clergy, appropriately robed, entered the door of the church, and, marching in order down the aisle, repeating responsively the 24th Psalm, took their seats in the chancel. After an exhortation and prayer by the Bishop, the Sentence of Consecration was read by the Rev. Mr. Wallace, Rector of the church, separating it from all unhallowed and worldly uses and solemnly dedicating it to the alone service of Almighty God. Then followed the service for the day, with the proper Psalms and lessons, the Rev. Mr. Bushnell reading the service and Rev. Mr. Schetky the lessons. The sermon on the occasion was preached by the Rev. Lewis Burton, Rector of St. John's Church, Cleveland, Ohio. It was listened to with marked attention. The allusions to the name of the church, to its rector and his friends, to the patrons of St. Andrew's in the congregation of St. Paul's Church, to the progress of the Episco pal Church in our city, were truly beautiful; and indeed the whole sermon, from beginning to end, was appropriate, evangelical, dignified, graceful, and interesting. We understand that this reverend gentleman is to preach in St. Andrew's Church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock and at St. Paul's Church

THE SNOW STORM OF YESTERDAY .- All through the long hours of the afternoon of yesterday snow came from the grayest of wintry clouds. Now, in huge, white flakes-anon, in the softest and finest particles; then, in the steadiest and directest lines, in such a manner, so fearfully wintryish, so constant, and so desperate, that we feared a blockade of the highways, and anticipated a resumption of navigation on runners in place of wheels.

Last evening as the shades of night drooped about the city, there was but one feature in the landscape and that was snow-cold, untimely snow. There was snow in the streets and snow upon the house tops; snow chilling the presumptuous buds and flow ers in exposed gardens, and snow hiding the deformities of black and filthy alleys; snow upon the chimney-tops, and snow on the hill-tops; snow in the church-yards and in the business marts; everywhere, in fact, making the earth a picture of Arctic desolation, and the men, who ventured out, like so many polar bears, with shaggy white manes.

A FIRE COMPANY AMBROTYPED .- Several days since the members of the Kentucky Fire Company paraded through our streets, dressed in the most elegant and tasteful uniform. Having arrived on Main street, in front of Sheldon's Gallery of Art, they formed about their beautiful hose carriage, and were taken in by Mr. S. through the agency of one of his powerful instruments. The ambrotype of of this large assemblage is almost perfect, depicting the anxious members, and the crowd of boys and other hangers on, with great accuracy.

The hose carriage was built by Messrs. Keating & Johnson, and has already been noticed in the McDowell & Robertson, steamboat agents, and also agents for Valentine's Express in this city, are now having fitted up, very handsomely, for their express business, a house on Maiu street, between Second ond Third, adjoining the new block of buildings just completed, and immediately opposite the telegraph office. The Valentine Express confines its business to the transportation of freights, and is very punctual in its undertakings. Messrs. McDowell & Robertson are excellent and reliable business men, and the ExpressiCompany have been fortunate in securing their services.

HIGH PRICE FOR BUTTER.—Butter is butter, new-a-days-the solidified, oleaginous product of the cow's udder and the churn's dasher, being not only scarce, but held at an unparalleled high price. A tip-top article is not to be had in our market. Pretty good demands seventy-five cents, and then there is a sliding scale to thirty-five cents for a description of butter that is old enough to tell its own

These extraordinary prices is owing to the scantiness of the pasturage in this vicinity-the grasspickings for the cows being next to nothing.

LAGER BEER AND THE WEATHER .- It is an ill wind that blows no body any good, and the disagreeably cold weather we have experienced for several weeks past has been profitable to one class in our community. We refer to our brewers. Lager beer can only be made during the winter, or in those months when the temperature partakes of a wintery character. During all of April our brewers have not ceased operations for a single day. They are emphatically making hay while the sun shines, and will put money in their purses by the protracted chillness of the weather.

ANOTHER PARSON IN A SCRAPE. - A dispatch from Boston says the Rev. O. P. Farrington, Methodist clergyman at Cohasset, Mass., is being examined before a Church Council on charges of adultery, lying, and indecent exposure of person. He is about 35 years old, preached for $500 a year, and has a wife and seven children. A member of his church is the accuser. Elder Paul Townsend presides over the examination, which causes great excitement in Cohasset and vicinity.

SUICIDE AT HAWESVILLE .- We learn from a correspondent at Hawesville that on the morning of the 16th inst. Caldwelle was a man of generous sentiments and fine education; but very dissipated in his INTERESTING ECCLESIASTICAL DECISIONS .- The reat English Church cases about crosses, candlesticks, credence tables, and altar coverings have at last been decided by the court of final appeal-the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The matter in dispute was certain decorations and ornaments employed in and about the communion table and the celebration of the communion servic e in the district church or chapel of St. Paul's, Knightbridge, London, and in the chapel of ease of St. Barnabas, Pimlico. The cases were first heard in the Consistory Court of London, before Dr. Lushington, whence they were carried by appeal to the Arches Court, before Sir J. Dodson, and finally thence to the Privy Council.

Dr. Lushington could find no ground for condemning the candlesticks, nor even the candles, regarding them as mere symbols that Christ is the light of the world; but as to all the other matters he went with the complainants, ordering the removal of the crosses, both that affixed to the screen and those affixed to the communion tables. The removal also of the credence tables and the disuse of the diversecolored and embroidered cloths were ordered, and also of the stone table of St. Barnabas; which deision had been sustained in all its points by Sir John Dodson in the Court of Arches.

THE COMET AND THE WEATHER .- There can be no question but that the perturbed state of the weather, which has for weeks set at naught meteorological calculations, is produced, if not directly at any rate indirectly, by the huge comet which is now whizzing through space directly toward our small planet. Similar changes of the climate have been observed before, during the passage of comets near the earth. The comet of 1556 is said to have brought with it a dense and unpleasant fog, which lasted for twenty-one days; that of 1826 was accompanied by heavy rains and consequent inundations, and every one must remember the unusually cold and severe weather prevalent ar the time of the appearance of the brilliant comet of March 1843. The comet now approaching the earth is that of Charles V, which first appeared in perehelion, in 1264. It may be seen in a clear evening near B Sagittari, and is evidently nearing the earth with great rapidity. Its passage across our orbit, or its possible collision, may produce very important and extraordidary geographical changes. There can be no doubt that its meteorological effects are already becoming evident.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL PIE.—The Louisville Journal A Typographical Pie.—The Louisville Journal was favored on Good Friday eve with one of those precious morsels. It was less welcome, however, than a Christmas turkey, and more difficult of digestion. We regret to state that both inside forms of the Journal, containing spicy editorials, fresh news, and new advertisements, were knocked into pie whilst being sent from the composing to the press-room. It is the first time in a quarter of a century the editors have had so unwelcome a repast. century the editors have had so unwelcome a repast, and they hope it may be the last. The New York Post says that Mr. Boker, whose daughter lately married his coachman, has determined, on account of his recent domestic troubles, to go back again to Europe. SAN FRANCISCO CITY, BANKRUPT. - The San Francisco Herald states that the schools in that city have been brought to a close for want of funds; that the firemen are without means to continue an organization, and that the prisoners in jail were actually starving, their wants having been relieved for that day by funds contributed by the Grand Jury.

SPLENDID CATTLE .- Major Thomas H. Shelby, of Boyle county, sold, a few days ago, a lot of cattle (120 head four-year olds) to Mr. J. W. Taylor, of New York, at $9 per hundred net. They are to be shipped to New York, and are said to be a very superior lot, probably unsurpassed by any lot of the same number ever sent from Kentucky.

Antioch.—Antioch is, beyond dispute, the cheap est place in the world, as well as one of the healthi est pade in the word, as wen as one of the feature est; and if it were not for the ragged little boys who hoot at every stranger and throw stones at his door, annoying you in every possible way, I should prefer it as a place of residence to any spot I have visited in Europe, Asia, Africa, or America.

My because of residently new construction well visited in Europe, Asia, Africa, or America.

My house was of perfectly new construction, well planted, and well situated, and proof against water as well as wind. I had four rooms, a sitting-room, a dining-room, a bed-room, and a dressing-room. I had a walled enclosure of about eighty feet square, where roses and geraniums vied in beauty with jessamines and lilies. There was also a poultry-yard, a pigeon-house, stables for three horses, a store-house, a kitchen and servants' room. I had in the house, a kitchen and servants' room. I had in the garden a grape vine (muscatel), a pomegranate tree, a peach tree, a plum tree, an apricot, and a China quince; and, in addition to all these, a fountain perpetually jetting up water, and a well, and a bathing-

For all this accommodation I paid three hundred For all this accommodation I paid three nundred and fifty piastres—about three pounds sterling; and this was a higher rent than would be paid by any native. Of course the house was unfurnished; but furniture in the East is seldom on a grand scale; a divan, half a dozen chairs, a bedstead, a mattress, a looking-glass, a table or two, and half a dozen pipes and narchilies are all one requires. Servants cost and narghilles, are all one requires. Servants cost about three pounds a head per annum. Seven and a half pounds of good mutton may be had for a shilling; fowls, and fat ones too, two pence each. Fish is sold by weight; thirteen rotoles for a beshlik, or about seventy pounds weight for a shilling. Eels, the very best flavored in the world, three halfpence each. As for vegetables, whether cabbages, let-tuces, des asperges, celery, water-cresses, parsley, beans, peas, radishes, turnips, carrots, cauliflowers, and onions, a pennyworth would last a man a week. Fruit is sold at the same rates; and grapes cost about five shillings the horse load. Game is also abundant. Dried fruits and nuts can be obtained in winter. In fact, living as well as one could wish, I found it impossible (house rent, servants, horses, board, washing, and wine included) to exceed the expenditure of forty pounds per annum.

Under these circumstances, it may appear marvellous that many Europeans possessed of limited means have not made Antioch their temporary means have not made Antioch their temporary home; but every question has two sides and everything its pros and cons. The cons, in this instance, are the barbarous character of the people among whom you live; the perpetual liability of becoming at one instant's warning, the victim of some fanatical emeute; the small hope you have of redress for the grossest insults offered; the continual intrigues entered into by the Avant edistury your peace and entered into by the Ayans to disturb your peace and comfort; the absence of many of the luxuries en-joyed in Europe; the want of society and books; and joyed in Europe; the want of society and books; and the total absence of all places of worship, which gradually creates in the mind a morbid indifference to religion, and which feeling frequently degenerates into absolute infidelity. It is better to choose with David in such a case, and say, "I would rather be a door-keeper in the house of the Lord than dwell in the tents of iniquity."

A New Counterfeit .- On Wednesday night, at Eries a brakeman on a train found upon the platform of the Depot a pocket book containing $5 bank bills to the amount of $705.

The bills are "The Exchange Bank," of Hartford Conn. Upon each side are two 5's, in line; the vignette is, two females, in air, left shoulder and breast and arms bare; the foremost holding the United States shield, which partly conceals an eagle with outspread wings, and holding in his claws three arrows; the words "State of Connecticut." "The Exrows; the words "State of Connecticut." "The Exchange Bank, Hartford, will pay to the bearer on demand," are above the vignette, the words "bearer on," partly overlapping the right wing of the bird; on one side of the vignette is "A" and on the other No. 2,748 (in the bill before us); and below it the words "Hartford, five dollars, Dec. 1st, 1856, D. L. Bidwell, Cash. — Colt, Pres." The word "five," in large red letters, is stamped upon the lower part and extends up over the lower part of the lower part, and extends up over the lower part of the "Brother Jonathan."—The origin of this term, as applied to the United States, is as follows: When Gen. Washington, after being appointed commander of the army of the revolutionary war, went to Massachusetts to organize it, he found a great want of ammunition and other means for its defence; and on one occasion it seemed that no means could be devised for the necessary safety. Jonathan Trumbull, the elder, was then Governor of the State of Connecticut; and the General, placing the greatest reliance on his Excellency's judgment, remarked, "We must consult Brother Jouathan on the subject." The General did so; and the Governor was successful in supplying many of the wants of the army; and thenceforth, when difficulties arose and the army was spread over the country, it became a by-phrase, "We must consult Brother Jonathan;" and the name has now become a designation for the whole country, as John Bull has for England.

Dict. of Americanisms, by J. R. Bardlett, 1842.

"The Stars and Stripes."—The American flag originated in a resolution of Congress, June 13, 1777, ithat the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes. alternately red and white; that the teen stripes, alternately red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." The combination is thought to have been derived from the arms of Gen. Washington, which contains three stars in the upper washington, which contains three stars in the upper portion, and three bars running across the escutch-eon; if this is not correct, the coincidence is striking. There were several flags used before the stripped flag by the Americans. Formerly, a new stripe was added for each new State admitted to the Union, until the flag became too large; when, by act of Congress, the stripes were reduced to the old thirteen; and now a star is added to the Union at the accession of each new State.—T. Last night, a Mr. Lasserd, with the small family of wife, 12 girls, and 3 boys, passed through by railroad on his way to a new home in Marengo, Illinois. He owned a farm of 180 acres, near Elmira, N. Y., and finding it a little too stony and contracted to support his family in the manner he wished, he sold it, realizing the snug little sum of $2,400. In appearance the family was a rare instance of health, intelligence, and thrift; the oldest child was 17 years old, and the youngest was at the breast; and the mother had a look of cheerfulness and bodily vigor which many of our city dames of half her years which many of our city dames of half her years might envy.—Cleveland Herald.

BAYARD TAYLOR IN NORTHERN EUROPE. CROSSING THE ARCTIC CIRCLE.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.] JUOXENGI, in the Frigid Zone, Jan 6, 1857. I was obliged to remain three days in Haparanda, I was obliged to remain three days in Haparanda, applying poultices, gargles, and liniments, according to the doctor's instructions. As my Swedish was scarcely sufficient for the comprehension of prescription, or medical technicalities in general, a written programme of my treatment was furnished to Fredrika, the servant-maid, who was properly impressed with the responsibility thereby devolving upon her.

This good-hearted girl was a genuine specimen of the Northern Swedish female. Of medium height, plump, but not stout, with a rather slender waist and expansive hips, and a foot which stepped firmly and nimbly at the same time, she was as cheerful a and nimbly at the same time, she was as cheerful and nimbly at the same time, she was as cheerful a body as one could wish to see. Her hair was of that silky blonde so common in Sweden; her eyes a clear, pale blue, her nose straight and well formed, her cheeks of the delicate pink of a wild-rose leaf, and her teeth so white, regular, and perfect that I am sure they would make her fortune in America. Always cheerful kind and active she had neverthed. ways cheerful, kind, and active, she had, nevertheless, a hard life of it; she was alike cook, chambermaid, and hostler, and had a cross mistress to boot. She made our fires in the morning darkness and brought us our early coffee while we yet lay in bed, in accordance with the luxurious habits of the Arctic zone. Then, until the last drunken guest was silent, toward midnight, there was no respite from labor. Although suffering from a distressing cough, she had the out-door as well as the in-door duties to discharge, and we saw her in a sheepskin jacket, harnessing horses, in a temperature of 30 deg. behave zero. The reward of such a zervice was possibly about eight American dollars a year. When, on leaving, I gave her about as much as one of our horses of the programment of the programment of the same translations. tel servants would expect for answering a question tel serving, I gave her about as intents one to that have tel servants would expect for answering a question, the poor girl was overwhelmed with gratitude, and even the stern landlady was so impressed by my generosity that she insisted on lending us a sheep-skin for our feet, saying we were "good men."

There is something exceedingly primitive and unsophisticated in the manners of these Northern people—a straightforward honesty, which takes the honesty of others for granted—a latent kindness and good-will which may at first be overlooked, because it is not demonstrative, and a total unconsciousness of what is called, in high civilized circles, "propriety." The very freedom of manners which, in some countries, might denote laxity of morals, is here the evident stamp of their purity. The thought has often recurred to me—which is the most truly pure and virginal nature, the fastidious American girl, who blushes at the sight of a pair of boots outside a gentleman's bedroom door, and who requires that certain unoffending parts of the body and articles of clothing should be designated by delicately circumlocutious terms, or the simpleby delicately circumlocutious terms, or the simple minded Swedish women, who come into our bed rooms with coffee, and make our fires while we get up and dress, coming and going during all the various stages of the toilet, with the frankest unconsciousness of impropriety? This is modesty in its healthy and natural development, not in those morbid forms which suggest an imagination ever on the alert for prurient images. Nothing has confirmed my impression of the virtue of the Northern Swedes my impression of the virtue of the Northern Swedes more than this fact, and I have rarely felt more res-pect for woman or more faith in the inherent purity of her nature. We had snug quarters in Haparanda, and our de tention was therefore by no means irksome. We had plentiful meals, consisting mostly of reindeer meat, with a sauce of Swedish cranberries, potatoes, which had been frozen, but were still palatable, salmon roes, soft bread in addition to the block shingles of fladbröd, English porter, and excellent Umeaa beer. In fact, in no country inn of the United States could we have been more comfortable. For the best could we have been more comfortable. For the best which the place afforded, during four days, with a small provision for the journey, we paid about seven dollars.

The people even seemed entirely ignorant of the geography of the country beyond Upper Torneaa, or Matarengi, 40 miles off.

geography of the country beyond Upper Torneaa, or Matarengi, 40 miles off.

Trusting to luck, which is about the best plan after all, we started from Haparanda yesterday at noon. The day was magnificent, the sky cloudless and resplendent as polished steel, and the mercury 31 degrees below zero. The sun, scarcely more than the breadth of his disc above the horizon, shed a faint orange light over the broad, level snow-plains, and the bluish-white hemisphere of the Bothnian Gulf, visable beyond Torneaa. The air was perfectly still, and exquisitely cold and bracing, despite the sharp grip it took upon my ears and nose. These Arctic days, short as they are, have a majesty of their own—a splendor, subdued though it be; a breadth and permanence of hue, imparted alike to the sky and to the snowy earth, as if tinted glass was held before your eyes. I find myself at a loss how to describe these effects, or the impression they produce upon the traveler's mood. Certainly, it is the very reverse of that depression which accomthe very reverse of that depression which accom-panies the Polar night, and which even the absence of any real daylight might be considered sufficient

Our road was well beaten, but narrow, and we had great difficulty in passing the many hay and wood teams which met us, on account of the depth of the loose snow on either side.

Our road led up the left bank of the river, both sides of which were studded with neat little villages.

The country was well cleared and cultivated, and appeared so populous and flourishing that I could scarcely realize in what part of the world we were.

The sun set at a quarter past one, but for two hours the whole could be compared to the world we were. the whole southern heaven was superb in its hues of rose and orange. The sheep-skin lent us by our landlady kept our feet warm, and we only felt the cold in our faces; my nose, especially, which, having lost a coat of skin, was very fresh and tender, requiring unusual care. At three o'clock, when we reached Kuckula, the first station, the northern sky was one broad flush of the purest violet, melting its libes of the graphy when it were the first station. into lilac at the zenith, where it met the fiery skirts

We refreshed ourselves with hot milk and pushed ahead, with better horses. At 4 o'clock it was bright moonlight, with the stillest air. We got on bravely over the level, beaten road, and in two hours reached over the level, beaten road, and in two hours reached Korpikylä, a large new inn, where we found very tolerable accommodations. Our beds were heaps of reindeer skins; a frightfully ugly Finnish girl, who knew a few words of Swedish, prepared us a supper of tough meat, potatoes, and ale. Everything was now pure Finnish. The girl awoke us with a cup of now pure rimins. In the girl awoke us with a cup of coffee in the morning, and negotiated for us the purchase of a reindeer skin, which we procured for something less than a dollar. The husbonde (house-peasant, as the landlord is called here) made no charge for our entertainment, but said we might give what we pleased. I offered, at a venture, a sum equal to about fifty cents, whereupon he sent the girl to say that he thanked us most heartily.

To-day has been a day to be remembered: such a glory of twilight and splendors for six full hours was beyond all the charms of daylight in any zone. We started at seven, with a temperature of 20 deg. below zero, still keeping up the left bank of the Torneaa. The country new rose into bold hills, and the features of the scenery became broad and majestic. The northern sky was again pure violet, and a pale red tinge from the dawn rested on the tops of the snowy hills. The prevailing color of the sky slowly brightened into lilac, then into pink, then rose-color, which again gave way to a flood of splendid orange when the sun appeared. Every change of color affected the tone of the landscape. The woods, so wrapped in snow that not a single green needle was to be seen, took by turns the hues of the sky, and seemed to give out, rather than to reflect, the opalescent luster of the morning. The needle was to be seen, took by turns the hues of the sky, and seemed to give out, rather than to reflect, the opalescent luster of the morning. The sunshine brightened instead of dispelling these effects. At noon the sun's disc was not more than 1 degree above the horizon, throwing a level golden light on the hills. The north, before us, was as blue as the Mediterranean, and the vault of heaven, overhead, canopied us with pink. Every object was glorified and transfigured in the magic glow.

At the first station we got some hot milk, with raw salmon, shingle bread, and frozen butter. Our horses were good and we drove merrily along, up the frozen Torneaa. The roads were filled with people going to Church, probably to celebrate some religious anniversary, to-day being Tuesday. Fresh, ruddy faces had they, firm features, strong frames, and resolute carriage, but the most of them were positively ugly, and, by contrast, with the frank Swedes, their expression was furtive and sinister. At Niemis we changed horses in ten minutes, and hastened on up the frozen Torneaa to Matarengi, where we should reach the Arctic Circle. The hills rose higher, with fine sweeping outlines, and the river rose nigher, with his sweeping outness, and the river was still half a mile broad — a plain of solid snow, with the track marked out by bushes. We kept a sharp look-out for the mountain of Avasaxa, one of the stations of Celsius, Maupertius, and the French Academicians, who came here in 1736 to make observations determining the exact form of the earth. Through this mountain, it is said, the Arctic Circle passes, though our maps were neither sufficiently minute nor correct the determine to point. We took it for granted, however, as a mile one way or the other could make but little difference; and as Matarengi lies due west of Avasaxa, across the river, we decided to stop there and take dinner on the Arctic Circle.

The increase of villages on both banks, with the The increase of villages on both banks, with the appearance of a large church, denoted our approach to Matarengi, and we saw at once that the tall, gently-rounded, isolated hill opposite, now blazing with golden snow, could be none other than Avasaxa. Here we were, at last, entering the Arctic zone, in the dead of winter—the realization of a dream which had often flashed across my mind, when lounging under the tropical palms, so natural is it for one extreme to suggest the opposite. I took our bearings with a compass-ring, as we drove forward, and as the summit of Avasaxa bore due east we both gave a shout which startled our postillion and notably quis keared the gait of our horses. It was impossible to ass our caps, for they were not only tied upon our heads, but frozen fast to our beards. So here we are at last, in the true dominions of Winter. A mild ruler he has been to us, thus far, but I fear he will prove a despot before we have done with him. will prove a despot before we have done with him. Soon afterward, we drove into the inn at Matarengi, which was full of country people, who had come to attend church. The landlord, a sallow, watery-eyed Finn, furnished a dinner of boiled fish and barley mush, to which we added a bottle labeled "Dry Madeira," brought from Haparanda for the occasion. At a shop adjoining, Braisted found a serviceable pipe, so that nothing was wanting to complete our jubilee. We swallowed the memory of all who were dear to us, in the dubious beverage, inaugurated our Arctic pipe, which we propose to inaugurated our Arctic pipe, which we propose to take home as a souvenir of the place, and set for-ward in the most cheery mood. Our road now crossed the river and kept up the Russian side to a place with the charming name of Torakankorwa. The afternoon twilight was even more wonderful than that of the forenoon. There were broad bands of purple, pure crimson and in-tense yellow, all fusing together into fiery orange at the south, while the north became a semi-vault of the south, while the north became a semi-valit of pink, then lilac, and then the softest violet. The dazzling Arctic hills participated in this play of colors, which did not fade, as in the South, but so, yed, and stayed, as if God wished to compensate by this twilight glory for the loss of the day. Nothing in Italy, nothing in the tropics, equals the magnifecture of these Polyarchics. The twilight gave nificence of these Polar skies. The twilight gave place to a moonlight scarcely less brilliant. Our road was hardly breken, leading through deep snow, sometimes on the river, sometimes through close little glens, hedged in with firs drooping with snow—fairy Arctic solitudes, white, silent and mysterious. We reached here at 7 o'clock. We pointed to the beds and quietly carried in our baggage. I made the usual signs for eating, which speedily procured us a pail of sour milk, bread and butter, and two immense tin drinking-horns of sweet milk. The people seem to be a little afraid of us, and keep away. We are likewise in a state of delightful uncertainty as to our future progress, but this very un-certainty gives a zest to our situation, and it would be difficult to find two jolier men with frozen neses. The mercury has risen to zero, with a heavy sky and damp air, threatening snow. If we can but get to Muonioniska before the storm comes. B. T.

EMBEZZLEMENT OF SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS BY A DRY GOODS CLERK—AN ODD AFFAIR.— The following is a correct statement of the circumstances attending the robbery of Walter H. Tilden, dry goods dealer, Broadway, South Boston, by his confidential clerk, a yourg unmarried man of about twenty-two years. It appears that Mr. Tilden, who has been in business there for a number of years, has, within the past three years, gone behind-hand in his business in a most unaccountable manner. He has had suspicions in regard to some of his clerks, has had suspicions in regard to some of his clerks, and, we are told, has dispensed with the services of one or two, though he had no direct proofs of wrong doing upon their part. In regard to the confidential clerk, however, he had no suspicions; he was steady in his habits, and appeared to live within his means. After some cogitation upon the subject, Mr. Tilden, a short time ago, determined to set a trap for the unknown plunderer, and accordingly a two dollar bill was marked and placed in the money drawer. Much to the surprise of Mr. Tilden, his marked bill was found in the possession of the unsuspected confidential clerk, who was, upon this exposure of his guilt, induced to confess that for the past three years guilt, induced to confess that for the past three years or more he had been in the daily habit of robbing his master's till, the sums thus obtained averaging from seven to ten dollars per day, and amounting altogether to from seven to eight thousand dollars.

But the most singular part of the affair is that this clark had not as it small art because in such assess.

clerk had not, as is usually the course in such cases, squandered the money thus obtained in riotous liv-ing, but had actually invested it, or the greater portion of it, in safe and solid security. About three thousand dollars had been placed in a mortgage upon a dwelling house, while a further considerable sum had been given to a young lady to whom he had been engaged to be married, who by his direction had in-engaged to be married, who by his direction had invested it in a Savings Bank, for future use. Of course the lady had no knowledge of the peculiar way in which the money was obtained.

All the accumulations of his three years of crime the clerk has promptly returned to his master, who, before the discovery, was nearly in a failing condition, but is now rather unexpectedly placed in a situation to meet all his engagements. We do not understand that any arrest has been made in the case.

Boston Traveler. FRACTIONS OF AN ACRE FOR EXPERIMENTS.—It Fractions of an Acre for Experiments.—It is often very desirable to the farmer to measure of from a lot of land, fractions of one acre, for the purpose of making a series of experiments upon different modes of planting, cultivating, or manuring. To facilitate this, we give below the measurement of the side of a square, containing the following fractional parts of an acre. A reference to this table will save some perhaps tedious calculation:

We cannot but suggest to our readers the importance and advantage of combining with the usual duties of the farm such experiments as may easily be conducted without any interruption of the work, and yet will often lead to the most decisive results. and yet will often lead to the most decisive results. If one is to plant an acre of potatoes, for instance, divide it into quarters, and each quarter into eighths if needed, and plant one part with small seed; another with large, another cut, and another whole; manure one part in the hill, another outside. On one quarter try salt to prevent the rot, on another lime, another ashes, &c. No man can do this without soon increasing his knowledge of agriculture, and soon after his wealth.—Country Gentleman.

How to Select Mousers.—Messrs. Eds.: I have tried poisoning rats, but find they soon become very careful what they eat; and I have found that a good cat is the most effectual remedy. As is the case generally, there is only one or two mousers in a litter. I will give a rule which I received from a young German, and which I have seen tried enough to know that it is good, if it is a cat story. A poor cat is almost as bad as rats. The German's rule was, when the kittens were old enough to be playful, to catch a mouse, and, holding it by the tail, give the kittens a chance to play with it; some would grab at it eagerly, while others would be entirely indifferent. The former he would save, and in this way. I have known several who have never failed to way I have known several who have never failed to obtain good cats. It is very simple, but may be of ADOLES. use to some. Country Gentleman.

We would invite the special attention of per sons, especially ladies, in want of the richest and newest styles of fancy dress goods and the best brands of staple goods to the stock at the store of G. B. Tabb, corner Fourth and Market streets. At this house can be found styles of goods not to be found in any other house in the market, which in point of beauty and elegance cannot be excelled. Ladies visiting our city will find it greatly to their advantage to give this house a call and examine the various kinds of goods before making their purchases. His stock of silk and lace mantillas is the largest in the city, embracing a variety of new and desirable styles. His stock of silks, berege and grenadine robes, embroideries, and lace goods cannot be excelled by any Western house. He has also a large and well selected stock of cottonades, heavy cotton drills, plaid cottons, osnaburgs, &c., for servants. Call and examine the stock of this house before you make your purchases, and we feel sure in saying that you will be convinced that this is the house to buy good and cheap goods.

Messes. Editors:—Permit me, in the name of the Monodelphian Society of Industrial Education, to express to Professor Fowler, through your columns, the thanks of the Board of Managers for the logical and instructive lecture on Education delivered by him on last evening, at their request, in the Christian Church, and for the able manner in which he presented the claims of the Society for meeting the educational wants of the children of our city and State, and the warm appeal made to the liberality of his audience in its behalf. We greatly regret that the inclemency of the evening prevented so many of our citizens deeply interested in the cause of education from hearing his valuable lecture.

The examination of witnesses as to the alleged marriage between the late Harrey Burdell and Mrs. Emma A. Cunningham was continued yesterday before the Surrogate. The rigorous cross-examination to which Miss Augusta Cunningham had been subjected by the counsel opposing her mother's claim was concluded. Dr. D. Smith and Mr. B. T. Benton were examined on the same side. Dr. Smith testified that on the 30th of October last he saw Dr. Burdell in the Lafarce House, and was informed by him that he intended going to Europe in June next, in company with several ladies, and that, on being asked by witnessif he was about to get married, he smiled significantly. Mr. Benton testified that Dr. Burdell was present at a meeting of the brard of directors of the Artisans' Bank (of which the wit ness also was a member) on the 28th of October last, the date of the marriage, and took part in a discussion relative to matters concerning the bank. At this stage in the proceedings the claimant's counsel announced that they would rest their case. The further hearing of testimony was adjourned till Thursday morning, when the opposing counsel will proceed to submit evidence against the marriage.

IMPORTANT ARMY ORDERS—Troops for Utah and

IMPORTANT ARMY ORDERS-Troops for Utah and Kansas-Billy Bowlegs to be Coaxed West-Gov. Geary .- A despatch from Washington conveys the following information:

Instructions have been issued from the War Department ordering General Harney and troops immediately from Florida to Fort Leavenworth. Col. Sumner, with a force of about 1,000 men, has also been ordered against the Iowa and Cheyenne Indians. On the restoration of peace in those quarters, he will proceed with his troops to Utah—the shameful licentiousness of which Territory the Administration is determined shall be broken up.

It is estimated that early in June there will be at least 3,000 United States troops in Kansas, under the command of Major General Harney and Persifer F.

The arrangements made last fall for a deputation of Choctaws and Seminoles from the west of the Mississippi, to pay a visit to Billy Bowlegs, and endeavor to coax him to remove West, will be carried out in a few days.

Ex-Governor Geary, of Kansas, is still here, but solely on private business. He expects to leave on Wednesday morning.

OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI RAILROAD FINISHED. We regret that we were unable to be present, as invited, at the interesting event noticed in the following paragraph from the Cincinnati Commercial:

On Wednesday the last huge fragment of blasted rock was rolled out of the thorough-cut this side of Mitchell, and at twenty minutes past three, Daniel D. Page spiked the last rail in the three hundred and forty miles of the iron road connecting Cincinnati and St. Louis.

The strendance at the ceremony was not large the

The attendance at the ceremony was not large, the wind blew chill and raw out of the West, and the municipal dignitaries of the capitals and States thus united were not present, but the sublimity of the event was not lost upon those who were there, and will be fully recognized throughout the world. Indeed, the absence of pomp and parade and multi-tude seemed to enhance the hour.

IMPORTANT EXPEDITION .- The Philadelphia Inquirer, of April 14, says:

We learn that to-morrow, a corps of engineers; headed by Mr. Trautwine, of this city, will leave New York for Honduras, to make the final survey, and to fix the exact location for a double track railroad to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Porto Cabellos, on the Atlantic side, and Conchagua, or the Gulf of Fonseca, on the Pacific, will be the terminini; embracing a distance of about 170 miles, through a highly fertile and diversified country, abounding in all the requisites for railroad building—fine timber, pure water, and quarries of rock. The route lies through a section of country which offers but little more than ordinary obstacles to the construction of a road; a fact which the Hon. E. Geo. Squier, and the efficient engineers who surveyed the route in 1853, have fully demonstrated to an enterprising English company, which has now understand the state of the contemporary of the contempo

THE CUBA SUGAR CROP .- A letter from Havans to the New York Times, dated April 9, says:

It is now pretty well acknowledged that the su-gar crop in this island will be shorter at least by onefifth than last year's. Interested parties are doing their best to conceal the truth, but the time is fast approaching when the official statements must be published. A large number of estates have already fairly arriving particularly in the vicinity of published. A large number of estates have already finished grinding, particularly in the vicinity of Mantanzas. Throughout the whole island, the cane has been more or less injured by the strong winds and excessively hard rains. In ddition to these calamities, the heavy frosts bit the young growth. I have heard, also, that the yield has been quite small, compared with that of previous years, to such an extent that many of the estates have made at least thirty per cent. less than last year. This has had the effect of raising prices to the present exorbitant standard, from which they will not abate.

A MISSING STUDENT .- The Danville Tribun

Mr. Charles Price, a student at the Theological Seminary at this place, left his boarding house in a very singular manner on Friday night, the 3d inst., and has not since been heard of. As he was a young man of religious and regular habits, and could have had no motive for leaving in such a manner, his disappearance has created a great anxiety among his friends and relatives. Any information concerning him will be very gratefully received, both by his distressed mother, Mrs. Maria Price, of Nicholasville, and by the Professors of the Seminary at this

To the Editors of the Lousville Journal:

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., April 12, 1857.

GENTLEMEN: I have just returned from a visit to Southern Illinois. This portion of this great State is just beginning to attract public attention and become properly appreciated. For the mildness of its climate and consequent advantages, its vast rineral resources, its great abundance of superior timber, &c., it must very soon become a very important portion of the State. Having of late heard so much said about Mound City, I concluded, while in that region, to go and see it. I did so, and was surprised to see the progress of the place. One year ago but five or six persons lived there; now they claim to have from eight hundred to one thousand inhabitants. The managers seem to desire to make it a manufacturing city, and to this end they have already succeeded in locating there several very important establishments. The buildings for a large foundary, machine shop, &c., are nearly completed, an extensive marine railway is considerably advanced toward completion, a large steam pottery is under way, a flouring mill is now being built, and numerous other important concerns are strongly talked of being put under way a flouring mill is now being built, and numerous other important concerns are strongly talked of being put under way this spring indeed the place, as a manufacturing point, is beginning to attract very general attention, persons visiting it almost daily to see and determine for themselves as to its advantages.

attract very general attention, persons visiting it almost daily to see and determine for themselves as to its advantages.

The company, under whose auspices the town has been laid out, was chartered by the late Legislature of Illinois, under the name and style of "the Emporium Real Estate and Manufacturing Company," with a capital of $5,600,000 and a charter having twenty-five years to run. A charter for a railroad was also obtained, connecting with the Ohio and Mississippi Road at Vincennes. A company has been organized under this charter and have fixed upon Mound City as the southern terminus of this road. The route for this road, while it shortens very considerably the distance to Louisville, Cincinnati, and other points east, passes through a portion of the State very rich in mineral resources, hitherto almost wholly undeveloped. I saw the president, engineer, and other officers of this company, who told me that they would at once proceed to survey the route and locate the road, and that they had every reason to feel assured that the stock would be subscribed at an early day, and the road put under contract.

The next public sale of lots at Mound City will come off on the 4th day of June next. I did not visit Cairo, but was told that considerable improvements were going on there also.

Speaker Banks is represented to have said in a speech delivered by him some time hast year that "the Mississippi Valley would some day contain the largest city in the world." Cairo and Mound City both think that they have hit upon the location for that city. If so, I can see no reason for a spirit of jealousy or rivalry existing between them, for if either of them have the location, the other will necessarily be embraced in its extent. As a manufacturing point, Mound City eretainly possesses very great advantages over Cairo, while the latter has advantages in a commercial point of view. I wish them both a full share of prosperity, and hope that they will soon meet and embrace each other somewhere below the mouth of Cache riv

Drs. A. V. Brewer and E. K. Seely were elected to mempership.
Dr. Spilman, chairman of Committee on Nominationproported the following gentlemen for the offices which are unexed to their respective names, who were elected without a dissenting voice:
L. F. Owen, Newcastle, President,
J. T. Bradford, Augusta, Sen. Vice President,
H. L. Givens, Lagranse, Jun. Vice President,
S. M. Bemiss, Louisville, Recording Secretary.
B. M. Wible, Louisville, Recording Secretary.
N. B. Anderson, Louisville, Treasurer.
G. W. Ronald, Louisville, Treasurer.
L. P. Yandell, D. D. Thomson, and J. Hardin Comnittee on Publication.

L. P. Yandell, D. D. Thomson, and J. Hardin Committee on Publication.

Drs. Spilman and Givens were appointed a committee to conduct the President elect to the chair, who, before taking his seat, thanked the Society for the honor they had done him and assured them of the great interest and zeal he entertained for its welfare, and requested the active cooperation of all the members to elevate to the highest possible standard the medical profession of Kentucky.

Upon motion of Dr. Givens, Dr. E. L. Goslee, of Campbellsburg, was appointed his alternate as delegate to Nashville.

Dr. Bradford's very able report on ovariotomy was now taken up until 11 o'clock, the hour previously fixed for the President's address. This address (by Dr. Sneed) was listened to with that profound attention which its eloquence and scholarship would aiways command.

Dr. D. W. Yandell remarked that five years ago this Society had received with great satisfaction a report from a committee on medical ethics. He desired to know if it still subscribed to that portion of the report which refers to annual services, or contracts by the year. He wished to offer a resolution—that this Society consider it derogatory to the character of the profession, and unfair to its younger members, to make contracts by the year, "and when the physician accepts such an offer or takes the initial steps in such bargaining, his object is to place himself beyond the reach of honorable competition." After a spirited discussion, in which many members participated, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Adjourned to meet at 3 o'clock P. M.

Dr. L. P. Yandell moved to take up Dr. Chipley's motion, which had passed on yesterday, that the chair now appoint a Committee of Ways and Means, to consist of seven, located in different portions of the State, whose duty it shall be to devise and carry into effect the best means to raise the funds necessary for the publication of the valuable reports which had for several years accumulated in the possession of the Society. The chair made the following appointments: Dr. W. C. Sneed, Frankfort; Dr. W. L. Sutton, Georgetown; Dr. W. S. Chipley, Lexington; Dr. A. Evans, Covington; Dr. W. H. Miller, Henderson; Drs. D. W. Yandell and S. M. Bemiss, Louisville.

Dr. Cook offered the following preamble and resolution: Whereas, the object of this society being to foster the progress of medical science by collecting statistics and presenting reports on special subjects of most vital importance to the profession and public; and whereas its existence and perpetuity depend upon the fidelity with which the members comply with the rules and regulations of its organization. Therefore—

Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee of three to address a circular to each regular member of the association urging the necessity of transmitting to the recording secretary the annual dues.

The resolution was adopted and the following committee was appointed: Drs. A. B. Cook, G. W. Ronaid, B. M. Wille.

Dr. Powell offered a resolution suggesting to physicians.

Wible.

Dr. Powell offered a resolution suggesting to physicians throughout the State to "adopt and publish a tariff of charges justly and conscientiously adapted to their various localities, and conform to the same as uniformly as the pecuniary circumstances of their patients will permit; provided, this shall not be interpreted to restrict any member of the profession in the largest excercise of charity towards needy patients," which was unanimously adopted.

The President now appointed the standing and select committees as follows:

STANDING COMMITTEES On Public Hygiene—Dr. S. M. Bemiss, Louisville; On Vital Statistics—Dr. W. S. Chipley, Lexington; On Epidemics—Dr. W. L. Sutton, Georgetown; On Obststrics—Dr. L. Dr. Bradford's report was again continued until the hour for adjournment.

Dr. Spilman culogised Dr. B.'s report, and hoped soon to see both it and Dr. While's report in print. The thanks of the Society were due to Dr. Bradford for his trouble in bringing two very large tumors, which he had removed from the abomen, to exhibit to this Society. He also moved a vote of thanks to the trustees and officers of the Baptist Church for their courtesy in placing the room at the disposal of the Society, which was unanimously passed. The Secretary desired to state to the Association that he had information that an excellent boat would leave Louisville about the first of May, direct for Nashville, and would afford delegates a convenient opportunity of going. On motion, adjourned to meet in Louisville on the third Wednesday in April, 1858.

DAILY REVIEW OF THE MARKET, No change in the money market, which continues tight.

Eastern exchange firm at ¾ to 1 prem.

The provision market was quiet. The party which offered the 1,500 bbls mess pork yesterday at $31 25 withdrew them from the market, actuated doubtless by the more favorable advices from abroad. A sale of 132 bbls mess pork was made on private terms. Holders are asking $22 00, was made on private terms. Holders are asking $22 00, though it has been sold for less. Some shipped went at $21 50. In bacon, sales of 20 casks clear sides at 12½c, 15 casks ribbed (backbone out) at 11½c, 5 casks boxed at 11½c, and 10 casks city shoulders at 9c, all packages extra and on Southern orders; also 13 casks clear sides at 12c, packages extra, and 25 casks at 12c packed. We continue to quote from the country 8, 10, and 11½c for shoulders, hams, and clear sides. Nothing doing in lard, but prices unchanged. There was a pretty good demand for sugar, which resulted in sales of over 100 hhds, of which 45 at 1114@11%c, 25 at 11%c, 13 at 11%c, and 6 at 11%c. Sales of 50 bags Rio coffee in lots at 11@11%c, and 25 bags Jamaica at Sales of 20 bbls plantation molasses at 66c, and 20 bbls Elm Hall at 73c. Tobacco firm. NEW YORK, April 17, P. M. Cotton is quiet with sales of 1,000 bales—buyers demand reduction but it is not conceded by holders. Flour has ecome firm at $5 65@5 80 for State, $6 10@6 40 for Ohio and $6 25@6 50 for Southern. Sales have been 11,000 bbls. Wheat is firm—7,000 bushels sold—white southern $1 62.(?) Corn—71½c for mixed. Mess pork has declined 5c—sales at $22 70@22 95. Molasses in moderate demand at 62@63c or Cuba. Butter firmer at 15@20 for Ohio and 18@25c for New York. Lead is quiet at $7 25. Stocks dull. Money market firm. Sterling exchange firm. Ohio and Rock Island 96%, Illinois Central bonds 99%, Michigan Southern 67%, Reading 79%, Erie 46%, Cleveland and Toledo 72, Michigan Central 94%. Freights are firmer.

CINCINNATI, April 17, P. M. Flour held firmly at $5 20@5 22, but the demand is only moderate at these rates—market closed dull—the receipts are more liberal. Whisky firm at 22%c, with sales of 2,400 bbls. Good demand for pine lumber-sales of 9,000,000 fee at 16@17c 22 1,000 as the rates run; 9,000,000 shingles sold at $3 75@4 50 🗑 1,000—supply but moderate and stock in yards light. Provisions held with increased firmness as the demand increases, hence not much demand, the prices ask-ed by holders being fully 1/2c higher for bulk meats and bacon than they would cheerfuly have accepted last weekbuyers are willing to pay an advance of 1/4c. Sugar firm and in good demand. Coffee steady. Molasses firm.

Tobacco.—The trade is fair—prices firm—holders declining to sell except at full market rates. We confirm quotations of last week.

Bacon gives decided evidence of improvement—there is some disposition to speculate at present prices, but it is resisted by holders who refuse to sell, except in a small way, without an advance. The receipts within the past week are 708 boxes, and most of that now here is in the hands of few parties. We quote long middles, ribbed, 54s to 55c; bonelees 50s, short 56s to 58c; Cumberland 55s.

Pork and Beef.—Since our last there has been an almost an entire clearance of old. The French Government held its last sales on the 18th, when some 3,000 bbls were sold at about equal to 30s. There is a good demand for new pork at 90s to 93s. New beef is more active and a prime article is wanted at 130s to 145s.

Lard has been quiet and dull—small sales are reported at 71s to 72s. Receipts within the past seven days 455 bbls and tierces. Stock in first hands light.

THE COTTON CEOP .- The New Orleans Price Current

It is generally understood that there has been more early planting this season than usual, and on many plantations the cotton was up. According to authentic advices from the interior all that was thus exposed to the action of the severe frost of the nighs of the 5th inst. has been killed and severe frost of the night of the believes have and will have to be replanted; thus defeating the realization of as early a crop as had been hoped for.

Sheep—We quote choice Western at $6@6 50 # head.
Weal Cattle—A fair demand. Prices $6 50@14 # head.

New Obleans, April 11.

Tobacco.—We had occasion to state in our semi-weekly report that the market had become further excited and unsettled by receipt of advices of severe and killing frosts in the tobacco region, and that some holders had withdrawn their stocks, while others, disposed to sell, had still further advanced their asking rates. Since then but few buyers have come forward to meet the views of holders, and the sales of the past three days barely 150 hhds; making a total for the week of only 800 hhds, in several lots, and all on private terms except the following—15 hhds at 10½, 6 at 12½, 14 at 13½, 17 at 13½, 6 at 16, 16 hhds frosted at 5½, 612 ditto, of which 4 at 8½, 4 at 9, and 4 at 10 ₹ B. Many holders still demand advanced rates, but the actual sales that take place are within the range of the following quotations: NEW ORLEANS, April 11.
